2010 – 33rd Annual Exhibit

This spot is reserved for your city and state!

Be an Ambassador for SW

—Don Taylor, President 2007-09

Believe it or not, it's time to start preparing for the 31st Annual Juried Exhibition. There is much work necessary for Southern Watercolor to host a successful show. It takes many hours of dedication by those volunteers. I would like to ask our members to become involved whenever possible. Please contact me or any board member if you wish to help.

On another note, SW is embarking on a major fund-raising effort. In order to sustain the highest levels of quality in our newsletter, annual exhibition, and the catalog; we must have adequate funds to maintain these functions.

The SW board is looking at various means to accomplish these goals. Possibilities include the donation of paintings to be raffled at the annual show; solicitation from members for additional donations for exhibition awards; creation of a President's award and others.

Individual members can assist by helping to locate patrons in the business and art community who are interested in art and the watercolor medium. These patrons may be in the region of the show or elsewhere. All will receive recognition. In-kind donations are also helpful. If you have any contacts with retail art supply companies that have not previously been associated with our shows, please let us know.

Memberships are our biggest source of support, and new memberships are critical for sustaining our society. Geri Davis will be heading a committee that will work to increase our numbers. But you as an individual member can have the greatest influence as an ambassador for SW. I encourage each of you to try to recruit at least one new member this year.

Remember, it's time to get your creative spirit in high gear and start working on your entries for our next show!

Gadsden Arts Center

A Jewel in the Florida Panhandle

The city of Quincy is located in Gadsden County and is the county seat. The community was named for John Quincy Adams. It once was a busy tobacco center, but this industry declined by the 1960's. The story is told that patrons of a local bank became millionaires from their 1920s investments in a little known company called Coca Cola.

Located on Quincy's historic Courthouse Square, 25 miles north of Tallahassee, the Gadsden Arts Center delights visitors with exhibitions that range from professional and historical works in all media in the main galleries to children's art in the Bates Gallery.

The Center's Gift Shop features original works in clay, glass, turned wood, jewelry, photography, fiber arts and paintings at affordable prices. A limited number of prints, books featuring local art and history, and note cards are also available.

Southern Watercolor Society's 31st Annual Exhibition will be held in the Gadsden Arts Center's galleries, as well as the five-day watercolor workshop being taught by our juror, Linda L. Moyer. It's going to be a good year!

Welcome Kathy Rennell Forbes, Alpharetta, GA.
<http://artbykrf.com>

Combining her passion for painting, the outdoors and travel, Kathy Rennell Forbes prefers to paint in plein air, but she also paints from photos or sketches that she makes on site. She is attracted to the dramatic lighting of intense sunlight and shadows, during the early morning, or at twilight.

Kathy, currently First Vice President of the Georgia Watercolor Society, has won numerous awards in the state of Georgia for her paintings. She has recently been recognized in several National shows. Her works hang in private collections throughout the United States and Europe. She resides in Alpharetta, Georgia with her husband and two children.

Jean Weiner, Albany GA.

"Here is the latest...signed it this morning. Steve very appropriately named this one, "My Berry." This effectively catches me up for the spring competition season. "My Berry" will be going to Tifton this weekend for a combination gallery competition/fine art festival. With a little luck, it won't come home! :)

—"I sold my winter scene painting last weekend at Tifton's outdoor festival. I had listed that painting to be included in an upcoming group exhibition in Valdosta later this month. Here is my "new" winter scene (above) just signed this week for the Valdosta show." Jean

Anne Chaddock, Richmond, Va., has won the watercolor award for "Best of America Watercolor". Her piece, "Ultramarine" (below), has been published in the "Best of America Watercolor" book by Kennedy Publishing which is now available in a variety of museums and galleries throughout the country.

Betty Jameson, Austin TX, had three paintings accepted into The 2007 26th Annual Regional Juried Show for The Hill Country Arts Foundation, Ingram, Texas.

—"Gestation" was selected by Janet Rodgers to receive a $100 Honor Award at the 2007 Red River Watercolor Society's 14th Annual Juried Watermedia Exhibition, at the Heritage Hjemkomst Center, Moorhead Minnesota. —Betty had a painting accepted into The South Cobb Arts Alliance 20th Nat'l Juried Art Exhibition, Jul 1—Aug 19, 2007 at the Mable House Art Center, Mableton GA. —Betty's painting, "Midnight Moon" was accepted into the 16th Annual International Society of Experimental Artists Exhibition hosted by the Santa Cruz Art League, Santa Cruz, CA, Aug. 11—Sep.9, 2007.

—Betty had paintings accepted by Betsy Dillard Stroud into the Taos National Exhibit of American Watercolor at the Millicent Rogers Museum, Taos, NM, Aug 11—Sep.9, 2007, and by juror Nita Leland, Montana Watercolor Society's Twenty-Fifth Annual National Juried Exhibition, Oct. 2-27, 2007. ~

With Much Appreciation.

SW sends a very large thank you to Charles Munday for the many years he volunteered as the SW treasurer! Charles is a wonderful example of the quality of our membership. He is an instructor at Auburn University, a master painter and—in his spare time—watched over our finances and paid our bills! Thank you, from the SW Board, our vendors and all of our members. Keep painting!

We Hate Inflation.

All of us do. But it happens, and no matter how long SW has tried to postpone raising the dues, inflation has caught up with us. As Don Taylor wrote on the front page, we want to sustain the quality of our yearly show with its beautiful full-color catalog displaying each accepted painting.

Therefore, the SW 2008 dues will be $30 and the 31st Annual Exhibition entry fee will be $20. We are asking all of you for continued support of our Society through membership and volunteer services. Thank you!

"I encourage each of you to try to recruit at least one new member this year."—Don Taylor

Good Morning!

—Jean Weiner

I would like to thank you for appointing me as your new treasurer. I am pleased to be serving the Southern Watercolor Society and look forward to working with everyone on the board.

I come to this office with previous treasury experience. I am currently in my third and final year as our local artists' guild treasurer. I am also the treasurer for my daughter's high school marching band booster organization. That is a busy treasury with a current balance of $37,000.00+ in three separate bank accounts. I use a master spreadsheet with 3 sheets that track activity fee payments, demographic info, and fund-raising/individual band account transactions.

I envision setting up a spreadsheet for the SW too. As your new treasurer you can expect regular treasury reports that list income and expenses to the penny. —Jean

Welcome, Jean Weiner, to the SW Board! You have accepted an enormous responsibility. We look forward to working with you and learning from you.—SW

Richard Stephens, Hot Springs AR, is featured in an 8-page article in the June 2007 edition of Watercolor Magic magazine.

The article focuses on Stephens' workshops and teaching philosophy, with emphasis on the importance of preliminary sketches. Citing his 33-year career as a commercial artist as a major help with the design of his work, Stephens discusses his process leading up to the actual painting.

Theodora T. Tilton, Alexandria, VA, has won the Da Vinci Paint Award at the Georgia Watercolor 2007 National Exhibition held at the Carrollton Cultural Arts Center in Carrollton, Georgia. Cont'...

—This year Ms. Tilton was awarded Signature Member status in the Missouri Watercolor Society.

—Theodora has been awarded a solo exhibition at the Museum of Natural Sciences in Raleigh, North Carolina. Her work has been accepted in the D'Art Center Mid-Atlantic Exhibition, Georgia Watercolor National Exhibition; Missouri National Exhibition; Art on Paper Exhibit in Annapolis, MD and the Gallery West 10th Annual National Competition.

Victoria Lenne, Knoxville TN, ISEA, WSA, MoWS, TnWS, WyWS, received news that her painting, "Everglades Inferno," received the Award of Excellence from juror,

Janet Rogers, of the Red River Watercolor Society 14th annual National show.

—Victoria also had a show at the Fluorescent Gallery in Knoxville, TN, Convergence, featuring her water media, mixed media and oils, and will have another show at the 1010 Gallery, Knoxville, in November, 2007.

—Victoria's painting, "Lying Spirits" was juried into the International Society of Experimental Artists, by juror Ed Wordell, thus, she attained Signature status.

—Victoria taught two work shops at the Orh-O'Keefe Museum of Art in Biloxi, MS the last two weeks of July, 2007.

Carolyn Grossé Gawarecki, Falls Church VA, and husband, Stephen, a photographer, had a large show of watercolors and photographs at Green Spring Gardens Horticultural Center in Alexandria, VA during the months of March and April.

Dear Members of the Southern Watercolor Society,

The Colquitt County Arts Center in Moultrie, Georgia thanks your group for the opportunity to host the 30th Annual Exhibition in March and April of 2007. It was an exhibition of such wonderful quality and was enjoyed by hundreds of individuals.

It is hard work for your exhibition group to coordinate this event and I thank Ann Kromhout for her help. It would not have happened without her, as well as your President, Don Taylor.

Frank Webb proved to be a serious juror and an excellent workshop instructor. I hope his trip to the South was interesting to him and that his workshop participants enjoyed his classes.

The number one issue that the artists may consider for the next exhibition is shipping. The artworks arrived in a timely manner; however, the return of the works proved to be a major problem. A three day period was scheduled to have the works picked up by the shippers. Unfortunately, this period turned into weeks.

The problem was due to a change in the pre-payment policies and no return labels from the companies. Most of the companies would not give the customer a pre-paid shipping label if they did not have an account. So the labels attached for the return were actually invoices and not pre-paid labels. Many, many calls, follow-ups, long distant calls to artists, the companies, and two actual works shipped to the wrong artists resulted from these problems. Previous exhibitions that required return shipping with these companies have had few problems; therefore, whatever has changed in their policies needs to be reviewed.

Thank goodness everything finally was completed, and hopefully in the future we will work together again. In the meantime, we invite members to send their information to us at CCAC, 401 7th Ave. S.W., Moultrie, GA 31768 if they have interest in other arts events.

Sincerely, Jane Simpson, CCAC Visual Arts Director

Welcome Valerie D'Ortona from Gainesville FL.
<http://www.isabelsworld.com>

Happiness is: Isabel's World, created by Valerie D'Ortona, a playful place painted in acrylics and water media, where there are purple and pink palm trees, neon-hued pelicans, and distinctive-looking cows. Just who is "Isabel," you may be wondering? Isabel, as inspiration would have it, is THE cow, the muse-mother of all Valerie's paintings. She is the spirit of the pastured creature that you holler "MOO!" to (if no one else is in the car, that is) as you drive along the roadway.

Isabel has friends. Her best friend is Lisabel. They and their pals — cats, clowns, bears, fish, frogs, and pigs — spend their days grazing through lush fields with multi-colored blooms, dressing up in "Sunday-Go-To-Meetin'" hats, chatting with their finned friends, wondering at palms that have color-ripe coconuts, and (secretly) laughing at seeing psychedelic pelicans.

Jean's First

Jean Weiner just finished her first watercolor Instructor role in her workshop at Jefferson Arts Inc. in Monticello FL. She says, "The workshop was a big success and a great thrill for me...another milestone in my advancement as a professional artist. The students worked hard and I think they all took away something specific about the medium that will help them with their individual styles. Here's a photo of the study piece that I led the class through."

Quoting the write-up: "The artist's extensive teaching experience was evident in her relaxed manner while working with students individually and with the entire class. All the participants echoed student Alice Stadin's sentiments that she was learning a lot and having a great time."

Is Monotyping accepted into watercolor shows?

—Quoted from Wikipedia, the free online encyclopedia.

Monotyping (not to be confused with monoprinting) is a type of printmaking made by drawing or painting on a smooth, non-absorbent surface. The surface, or matrix, was historically a copper etching plate, but in contemporary work it can vary from zinc or glass to acrylic glass. The image is then transferred onto a sheet of paper by pressing the two together, usually using a printing-press.

Monotypes can also be created by inking (painting) an entire surface and then, using brushes or rags, removing ink (paint) to create a subtractive image, creating lights from a field of opaque color (working from black to white). The inks used may be oil based or water based. With oil based inks, the paper may be dry, in which case the image has more contrast, or the paper may be damp, in which case the image has a 10 percent greater range of tones.

Unlike monoprinting, monotyping produces a unique print, or monotype, because most of the ink (paint) is removed during the initial pressing. Although subsequent reprintings are sometimes possible, they differ greatly from the first print and are generally considered inferior. A second print from the original plate is called a "ghost print" or "cognate". Stencils, watercolor, solvents, brushes, and other tools are often used to embellish a monotype print. Monotypes are often spontaneously executed and with no previous sketch.

So, the answer is yes to the question of monotyping being accepted into watercolor shows, as long as water based pigments are used.

Demo art using monotyping by Kerry Stratton of Greenwood FL.

"'Thunder in the Canyon' is from my painting trip to Colorado last August. Hoping for an Early Spring?

Do you know that the month of February is the beginning of spring in the northern parts of Florida, in and around Quincy and Tallahassee? Yes, its true, the winter camellias are still in bloom and the air is crisp, but the saucer magnolias and the star magnolias are at their finest. By the last week of the month the azalea buds begin to appear as well as the cherry blossoms, and by March there are signs of white dogwood flowers and hints of green grass.

OK, there was once, long ago, a freak snowfall on March 3rd, which stayed on the ground at least three hours! We aren't going to talk about that. Let's discuss how wonderful the beaches are on these cool spring days ... wonderful for walking miles and miles without crowds or sunburn. World class beaches are a short drive from Tallahassee, as are fishing spots and wooded hiking trails. We even have a lighthouse nearby!

So, don't just think about attending the Linda Moyer workshop and the 31st Southern Watercolor Annual Meeting and Exhibition; think about this time as an extended vacation, away from the job and the kids. Visit art galleries, the Florida State Capitol, the beautiful Wakulla Springs with its jungle boat cruises, and just relax! The Tallahassee Watercolor Society and the Gadsden Arts Center welcome you!

P.S. Oh yes—no worries—the hurricane season will be long past. See you then.
